WEBSITE DESIGN for Crisis1

We listen to our clients. We make their problems ours. We commit to finding solutions.

When problems arise, you need to be prepared to face them head on, and that takes foresight. Crisis1 delivers clarity during chaos — and with a sense of urgency. We bring a broad range of expertise and services to our risk management consulting services to solve the core issues facing many organizations today. Our experience, capability, vision, and work ethic make a demonstrable difference in your organization's ability to survive and thrive in today's budget, regulatory, and ever changing environment.

We designed the corporate logo for Crisis1 and recently they called upon us to redesign their corporate website.

DESIGN: Crisis1 offers risk management consulting services to organizations, helping them to thrive in today's budget, regulatory, and ever-changing environment. The site had to convey a sense of urgency while simultaneously showing expertise, security and integrity. We found attention-getting images to use in the home page slideshow that would demonstrate these qualities.

Bowing to current web trends, the site is full-screen and responsive. We retained the color palette from their logo – blue, black and gray with an occasional use of red. These colors are familiar to Crisis1's government agency prospects, and appeal to private corporations as well.

We built out dynamic posting functions for the About Us, Blog, News and Careers sections, enabling the client to update these inhouse. The site was coded as custom WordPress by our team at NOVA Web Group and the client's original content was fleshed out and edited by our team writer Susan Rose.
