WEBSITE DESIGN for TFD Leadership Coaching

We recently partnered with NOVA Web Group to design a website for TFD Leadership Coaching (thinkfeeldo.com), a Northern Virginia international coaching professional. The client wanted a website that was simple to navigate and that had an organic feel, populated with inspiring images from nature.

TFD's logo has colors that were easily incorporated into the website: grass green, orange and black. As far as nature images, the client wanted to be involved in the image search which is a significant help; it's easy to talk about images in theory, but not so easy to find the ones the client actually has in mind.

We went with a single navigation throughout, and used a soft, creamy browser background color. Large, striking images create a dynamic home page, while the secondary pages have smaller images accompanied by quotes.

The site was programmed as a custom Wordpress CMS to allow the client to make updates inhouse.

Take a closer look at the final website at thinkfeeldo.com.
